

BIG COTTON WAREHOUSE WILL BE CONSTRUCTED

C. GUNTER ELMORE WILL ERECT ONE FOR STORAGE OF COTTON NEAR GOULDING, TO COST ABOUT $10,000.

A big cotton warehouse, for the storage of cotton, is to be erected near Goulding by C. Gunter Elmore, who has been among the prominent brokers here since the cotton business began to be handled extensively.

The building will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000, and will have a capacity of 5,000 bales of cotton.

It will be built entirely of brick, and erected in such a manner that additional room from time to time can be made to it as the occasion may arise. It is believed that within a few years the business will have grown to such an extent that large additions will be necessary to handle it.

Mr. Elmore decided upon the erection of the warehouse for the reason that the present warehouse facilities afforded at the compress are considered inadequate to handle the large amount of business coming to the city, and the new warehouse will add materially to the city's facilities for caring for the cotton trade.

The erection of the building will commence at an early date and be completed before the opening of the coming season.

Are You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember, that after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestion in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown, of Bennettville, S. C., says: "For years, my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." All druggists sell and guarantee them, at 50c a bottle.

NAVAL OFFICER TAKEN FOR CROOK

ARRESTED BY "ONE OF THE FINEST" AS DANGEROUS AND SUSPICIOUS AND TAKEN TO THE STATION.

One of the Hawahaws of the local police department distinguished himself Tuesday by arresting a prominent naval officer upon the charge of being dangerous and suspicious and, in spite of his protests took him to the police station where, happily, he was immediately released by Marshal Schall.

Three crooks are said to have been operating in the vicinity of Palafox wharf during the morning, two of whom were placed under arrest shortly before the naval officer stepped ashore from his launch. The Sherlock Holmes of the Pensacola force, with that intuition for which some police officers are noted, at once came to the conclusion that the naval officer was the last of the trio of crooks and placed him under arrest.

The naval officer in question was justly indignant at the outrage and expressed himself rather forcibly both to the policeman and at the station.

BOYS CONFESS MANY ROBBERIES

EIGHTEEN STORES, THREE CHURCHES, TWO SCHOOLS AND A RAILWAY STATION PLUNDERED.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, March 29.—Ten boys of Harvey, a suburban town, have confessed in the juvenile court to the robbery of eighteen stores, three churches, two school houses and a railway station.

The plunder consisted of candy, gum and pennies, and it was too free a distribution of the candy at school that at last enabled the police to capture the band, who had led them a merry chase for months.

"We started it just for fun," sobbed one of the culprits, "but when we got into it we couldn't stop. We just had to go right on stealing because there was always some boy who didn't have what he wanted."

The boys, whose ages range from 12 to 15 years, are of respectable families. Their hearty repentance, added to the pleadings of their parents, induced Judge Mack to release the prisoners on probation.

Did Not Go to Court.

A matter of fact mind, like Mrs. Salter's, is a comfort to the person who has it and a never ending delight to the person's friends.

"I suppose you went to bed with the chickens while you were away," said one of the neighbors after Mrs. Salter had returned from her vacation visit to a farm.

"No, indeed," said Mrs. Salter indignantly. "They were very neat, quiet people, though they've never had city advantages. We had rooms in the front of the house, on the second story, and the chickens slept somewhere at the back of the house. We never saw them after sunset, and we were there nearly three weeks. I am sure farming people are often more particular than we have been led to suppose."—Youth's Companion.

"Ah, John, be thankful, for there is no mistake you are getting old like the rest of us, and old age doesn't come alone."

"Auld age, sir," returned John. "I wonder to hear ye. Auld age has naething to do with me. Here's my fither leg jist as auld, an' it's soond an' soople yet."

There is no chance of wracks for a pulr fisher body noo."—Cornhill Magazine.

CANNOT APPOINT SON AS AN AID

NAVY DEPARTMENT REFUSES TO ALLOW ADMIRAL EVANS TO HAVE HIS SON ON HIS STAFF.

A matter of much interest, especially to the officers and men of the combined fleet, has just been made public. It is a ruling by the navy department that Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, who is to assume command of the North Atlantic fleet on Friday, cannot have on his staff his son, Lieut. Evans. Speaking of the matter the Army and Navy Register says:

"The secretary of the navy has decided that a naval officer detailed to prominent command may not hereafter have with him, in his official capacity, a son who is also in the naval service. There are several instances of such close relationship, and it has been considered the usual prerogative of an officer assigned to the command of a fleet or squadron to select as an aid a son or other relative who is in the service. The first application of this rule applied in the case of Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, who, when he becomes commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic fleet has requested the detail of his son, Lieut. Frank T. Evans, as an aid. The latter officer is now in command of the U. S. S. Sylph, and was on duty in charge of the seamen's quarters at the Washington Navy Yard. He will remain on duty and will not join Rear Admiral Evans."

ROSE TO THE OCCASION.

The Way a Financier's Clerk Expended a Cipher.

When Wall street first caught the fever for "industrial combinations" and began the reorganization of everything in sight, says the Brooklyn Eagle, one of the votaries of high finance found himself in Chicago in extreme need of communicating with his New York office.

He had almost completed an arrangement for the consolidation of several western enterprises, but in order to get the final authority he needed from New York he must explain all he had done by wire to his partners.

There was no time to write. He had no cipher code. For a long time he tried to think out some way to send the information so that it would be plain to his partners and meaningless to any one else. His secret was a valuable one and once sent over the wire might be sold out to his rivals in Wall street for a large sum.

At last he decided to take the chances in plain English. Accordingly he wrote the message and gave it to his assistant to send.

Half an hour later, when the assistant came back, he asked him if he had sent it.

"Not just that way," said the clerk. "I rewrote it—the first word on a Postal blank, the second on a Western Union, and so on. I sent half by each company, and neither half meant anything. Then I sent a second message by one line, saying, 'Read both messages together, alternating words.'"

The scheme was too simple for the high financier to have evolved, but it worked perfectly.

He Won It.

"Dear father," wrote the young lawyer who had just hung out his shingle in a great city, "congratulate me. Today I won my first suit. And," he continued to himself, "it's a lucky thing the cards ran as they did or I wouldn't have had any winter clothes."—Cleveland Leader.
